STRAWHAT THEATER 1981 (ANOTHER GRAND AMERICAN TRADITION)

Although a couple of real troopers, THE DOLLY SISTERS never appeared at the Ivoryton Playhouse . . . but they probably wish they had!

COVER: Our new seal was designed by artist Richard L. Brooks of Essex, husband of trustee Bunny Brooks. Born in Gloucester, Massachusetts, Dick became a marine painter in his teens, but after Dartmouth and World War II he found himself the creator of the nationally syndicated Sunday and daily comic strip THE JACKSON TWINS. After thirty years of steering teen aged twins through life he moved to Essex and began painting again. He is well known locally for his limited edition of prints of a historic scene at Steamboat Dock now on sale at the museum.

THE IVORYTON PLAYHOUSE

Nominated to the National Register of Historic Places; the Ivoryton Playhouse was built in 1908 as a social hall for the Comstock-Cheney piano key factory.

Beginning in 1930, both actors and audiences found a special pleasure in traveling to the country during the sultry months and summer theater was born in Ivoryton, Connecticut.

Milton Stiefel operated this premier Playhouse for 44 years and introduced to Connecticut such stars as Katharine Hepburn, Alan Alda, Mary Astor, Tallulah Bankhead, Shirley Booth, Marlon Brando, Helen Hayes, Vincent Price, Mae West, and Shelly Winters to name a very few.

In more recent years Richard Thomas, Cloris Leachman, Kathryn Crosby, Ginger Rogers, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Richard Chamberlain, and Cab Calloway have carried on the Ivoryton Tradition.

Some very special people have dedicated themselves to caring for this wonderful playhouse and to insure that the Ivoryton Tradition of lively summer theater continues. These are people who derive pleasure not only from going to the theater, but from giving to it: the members of the Ivoryton Playhouse Foundation.

OUR GOALS INCLUDE: retiring the mortgage . . . heating the theater . . . improving the stage facilities . . . refurbishing the interior and exterior. YOU are invited to share in this special venture.
